Standard definition
Description	Assuring Transformation is a data collection that has been developed in response to Transforming Care: A national response to Winterbourne View Hospital and Winterbourne View Review: Concordat: A Programme of Action. The Concordat, published by the Department of Health in December 2012, aims to ensure that all people with learning disabilities receive the health care and support they need in the most appropriate setting. This data collection monitors the progress of moving people with learning disabilities to community settings. The collection refers to patients with a diagnosed learning disability, autism or Asperger syndrome. The purpose of the data collection is to ensure that the public reporting on progress to implement the NHS commitments in the Concordat is transparent and robust. It will also be used to triangulate with the Learning Disability Census completed by providers. This process is important for informing The Winterbourne View Joint Improvement Programme. Formerly managed by NHS England, this data collection is transferred to the Health and Social Care Information Centre (HSCIC) from 06 January 2015. As a result, commissioners are asked to submit data to the HSCIC's Clinical Audit Platform.
Scope	NHS
Applies to	All commissioners of learning disability services must comply with this information standard. This includes clinical commissioning groups, commissioning support units and NHS England specialised commissioning teams.

Legal authority	This information standard is published under section 250 of the Health and Social Care Act 2012. The data collection is the subject of Directions from NHS England to the HSCIC.
Impact	There is no impact on other information standards or collections, though it is anticipated that this collection will be incorporated into Version 2 of the Mental Health and Learning Disabilities Data Set.
